PUBLIC DEBT.

The Statement Shows Unfavorable Government Financial Operations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The monthly public debt statement and statement of government receipts and expenditures put out from the treasury department Monday present an unfavorable showing of government financial operations during the last month. The public debt during September increased about $1,000,000, the gold reserve was lowered about $2,500,000, and the receipts from all sources, compared with September a year ago, fell off several millions.

Receipts, however, last month were about $1,000,000 more than during the preceding month of August—due mainly to increased internal revenue receipts.

The interest-bearing debt during last month increased a trifle—$150,000—the non-interest-bearing debt increased $420,350, and the surplus cash in the treasury fell from $107,282,910 on September 1 to $105,875,933 Monday, a decrease during the month amounting to $408,277, making in all an increase in debt and decrease in cash or net increase in the public debt during the month amounting to $854,730. The total debt Monday, less surplus cash in the treasury, is $854,511,141. Of this amount $585,004,300 is interest-bearing debt—mainly four per cent. bonds.

Treasury gold assets Monday aggregated $172,325,091, against which there are $70,756,819 in gold certificates outstanding, leaving a gold reserve of $91,568,272, or $2,450,951 less than a month ago.

Silver assets Monday, including $104,211 silver certificates and $104,211 silver certificates in the cash, aggregated $125,643,293, against which there is outstanding $390,504,504 in silver certificates and $151,319,010 silver treasury notes issued under the so-called Sherman act, leaving a silver reserve of $214,224,752, or about three and a half millions more than a month ago. The treasury gold assets comprise $101,030,615 in bars; $72,183,123 coin and $192,220 in gold certificates.

The silver assets are made up of $60,490,882 standard silver dollars, $124,949,787 in silver bullion and $4,001,211 silver certificates and Sherman act bullion notes. The treasury holds in its cash to-day $14,452,100 greenbacks, $7,815,450 national bank notes, National bank deposits have changed but little during the past month, and Monday, including disbursements officers' balances, aggregated $17,213,275. Government receipts during September aggregated $24,582,756 in round numbers, $12,500,000 from customs, $11,500,000 from internal revenue and $500,000 from miscellaneous sources. Expenditures aggregated $25,475,010, against $28,192,133 in September, 1897. Pension payments last month were $10,756,864, against $12,654,507 in September a year ago.

A BREAKAWAY.

Rolliturners Leave the Amalgamated Association.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 3.—The first steps were taken in Pittsburgh in a move among the rolliturners to break away from the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers. Ninety-five men, representing various sources, were present at the secret meeting, and a preliminary organization was effected. The rolliturners are the most skillful in a rolling-mill, as the entire product of a plant is affected by the accuracy of their work. The rolliturners were among the first trades to enter the amalgamated association ranks, but they claim it has not worked to their advantage and their wage scale is being violated. Altogether there are 2,000 of the craft in the United States. Another meeting will be held in Pittsburgh on October 13, at which it is expected national organizations will be formed, with headquarters located in this city.

IRISH DAY.

A Conflict of Authority in Respect to the Irish Emblem.

It is Halted Down From the Electricity Building—Is Not Regarded as a Nation—A Cold, Wet Day Fails to Build the Ardor of the Irish Heart.

WOMEN'S FAIR, Oct. 3.—The weather started in horribly Saturday morning, and along about midday there was no prospect of a clearance. A more disagreeable day for celebration could not be imagined. The sky was heavy, there was a drizzling rain, the air was cold, and the ground was sticky and flooded. It must have had a discouraging effect on the great crowds that were expected here for Irish day. But the white city was by no means deserted, and the gayeties went on.

While the rain was pouring down Saturday morning James Hunt, one of F. D. Millet's men, hauled down the Irish flag from one of the flagstaves on the electricity building, where the colors of all nations are grouped. This was the sequel to a difference of opinion on the part of Mr. Millet and Chief Barrett, of the department of electricity, regarding the propriety of hoisting the green flag of Ireland on their great day at the fair.

Chief Barrett, inspired with a spirit of patriotism, wanted the flag strung up on the electricity building. Mr. Millet has charge of the colors at the exposition. He was standing in his office when the flag of Erin was run up, and he ordered James Hunt, one of his subordinates, to pull it down. Mr. Hunt was quick to obey orders, and the flag of Ireland was quickly hauled down. When Mr. Hunt left Mr. Barrett's man again ran up the colors. Then Chief Millet and three of his men ran to the electricity building and Hunt cut the halyards and the flag fell limp and wet at the feet of the crowd which had gathered about the building regardless of the rain. A company of guards, fearing trouble, was dispatched to the scene. Chief Barrett withdrew his men until President Higginbotham should arrive and issue specific orders regarding the affair.

Mr. Millet explained that no flags were run up at the exposition whose nation was not recognized as a nation. He said that it would be fully as appropriate to plant an American flag as that of Ireland. "The Irish flag has been used for decorative purposes," said Mr. Millet, "but it has never been hoisted on any of the flagstaves. This department will not put up a flag unless it is ordered to do so by exposition officials."

Chief Barrett was a very indignant man. "I ordered my men to run up the flag," said he, "in honor of Irish day. We have so many Irish-American citizens here I thought it was nothing more than right and courteous that this recognition of their colors be given them."

The parade was a big one and a fine one. The principal feature of it was a number of broad-shouldered, brassy and athletic looking men who participated. These were not only in the ranks of the Gaelic athletic associations which were assigned a prominent position in the line, but also in the ranks of the well drilled Irish military organizations. They gave the necessary military dignity to the leading columns of the procession. The Irish seventh, of Chicago, a crack regiment in appearance and discipline, lead the first division, and behind them came distinctive Irish military organizations from different parts of the country. Timothy E. Ryan, at the head of the line in bright regalia, flanked by aides, many of whom were cavalrymen as their magnificent seats in the saddle attested, brandished the precious sword which had belonged to Gen. Jackson. In the divisions that followed the militia were the various Catholic civic societies, including the Catholic Order of Foresters, temperance and church societies and literary organizations.

Behind them all in great tall-hooped coaches, with streamers and banners of green flying to the breeze and uniformed buglers wearing the Irish colors were the distinguished guests of the day. Among them were the lord mayor of Dublin, James Shanks, and the lady mayors, his wife. These were the particular guests of honor, though Edward Blake, of Canada, and Mr. Fitzgerald, of Boston, received the marked attention due visitors from beyond the state and national boundaries. These three men were well known by reputation to the crowds, particularly those of Irish blood, that gathered along the line of march, and people tip-toed and craned necks to get a look at them. The lord mayor, of course, the cynosure of all eyes. Everybody, whether Irish or not, appeared from his talk and actions to be anxious to see what a real live lord mayor looked like, anyway. They saw in Mr. Shanks an unpretentious-looking gentleman at first, in the Prince Albert coat of ordinary length, a silk hat and a dark four-in-hand necktie. He wore a green rosette in his buttonhole. The lord mayor is tall, of medium build, wears a mustache and sideburns, and a pleasing expression of countenance. In response to the cheers offered him as a greeting by the multitudes he bowed smilingly and repeatedly, and doffed his hat with a graceful gesture. The procession formed on Midway plain and marched through the principal avenues of the grounds.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The steamship La Bretagne brought a massive piece of silver altar furniture known as the ostensorium, and used in the exposition of the blessed sacrament. It is made of the finest quality of silver, heavily gilded, and consists of an ostensorium proper, and a tabernacle. The ostensorium weighs about eighty-five pounds and stands five feet high. It cost $10,000, not including the jewels used on it.

FLOODED.

Mobile, Ala., Submerged, Involving Great Loss—Several Persons Killed in the Looting of the City—Harbor Craft Wrecked.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 3.—A southeast gale broke here Monday morning about 1 o'clock, and the wind has been increasing in velocity ever since, at times blowing at least fifty miles an hour. The barometer is still falling. The wind has blown the water in from the river until the river has reached Royal street, which is four blocks from the river and at an elevation of about fifteen feet from the main river height.

There is no possible chance of estimating the money damage. All the wholesale and a great portion of the retail district of the city is some four feet under water, and thousands of dollars worth of goods have been damaged.

The pilot-boat Ida Low has been driven on the wharf at the foot of St. Francis street.

The bay-boat Heroine was driven on the Mobile and Ohio wharf and almost totally wrecked. The Crescent City, another bay-boat, left Point Clear at the same time, the Heroine did Monday morning and has not since been heard from.

It is reported that three dredges working on the channel have been lost. It is also reported here that some fifty miles of the Louisville and Nashville railroad along the coast are under water, and that the Biloxi bridge has been swept away by the gale.

Nothing has been heard from the gardeners in the marshes east of the city, and the worst is feared. Telegraphic communication is cut off in almost every direction, and from the present outlook Mobile will be entirely cut off from the outside world for some time. In this city, houses have been unroofed, trees blown down, and one cotton warehouse has succumbed to the fury of the gale. All the smokestacks of all manufacturing industries have been blown down. Streetcar traffic has been totally suspended because of the damage to the electric wires, and the city is in darkness Monday night. The waves are fast encroaching on the electric light works, which will soon be under water.

The busiest thoroughfares of the city are being navigated in boats, and parties are wading up to their arm-pits in their efforts to save goods. It is conceded by all to be the worst storm that has ever visited Mobile. The southern part of the city presents a scene of wreckage as if it had been bombarded. The towers on the court house and Christ church are tottering.

Dredge No. 5 turtled over near the light-house, and three men were thrown overboard. At great peril the crew of the tug Captain Sam steamed to the rescue and saved two of the men, the other being lost. An unknown white man lost his footing while wading from the Union street at the foot of Government street, and was swept under the bridge and drowned.

The storm reached its height about 1 p. m., when the wind reached a velocity of seventy-five miles an hour. From that hour the fury of the gale began to increase and the wind gradually changed from the southeast to the west. The rain has been falling in torrents the entire day and Monday night the city is in darkness and there is not an electric light of any kind burning.

The bay steamer Crescent City dragged her anchor seven miles, and went ashore on the beach between Arlington and Monroe Park, about three miles below the city on the western shore of the bay. Capt. Frank Lumsden and his crew and one passenger, a cotton broker named R. Lewis, remained on the wreck, but the crew and one passenger were rescued and safely ashore through the angry waves.

Nearly every bath-house along the western shore was blown down, and at Morgan's an attendant named Graham was swept away, with five bath-tubs, at his heels.

The Mag-oh and Cooley's warehouses were blown down, and two unknown colored men were drowned in the cotton-yard. Magnificent oaks all over the city are laid low and the earth is covered with the green leaves whirling from the trees by the fierce winds. Homes all over the city have been unroofed and fences blown down, and Monday night it is simply impossible to give details. Nothing has been heard from the eastern shore, where the French navy is anchored, but it is expected great damage to property, and possibly loss of life, has occurred. The storm at this writing (10 p. m.) has abated, and the waters have receded. There is not a wire in the Western Union office afire, and this is written to be sent several miles out of town, where it is hoped communication may be established.

The loss of the Crescent City represented $300,000. Cleveland Brothers, grain dealers, estimate that the loss was $3,000 and $7,000. One merchant lost a thousand barrels of cement, another a thousand sacks of salt, another a quantity of lime. A large quantity of grain has been lost. It will be several days before details can possibly be known.

CATRINO GARZA.

While the Troops Were Hunting Everywhere For the Desperado.

He Was Complacently Enjoying the Night at the World's Fair, and Snapping at No Less Conspicuous Place Than the Palmer House, Under an Alias.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—One of Hamilton Catrino Garza's latest and most daring exploits, it is said, is his visit to Chicago, where, under assumed names, he and his lieutenant, Gen. Ruiz Sandoval, spent the early part of August and lived in no less conspicuous place than the Palmer house.

While Mexican and American troops were scouring the land and racking their brains to discover the possible hiding place of the "revolutionist," he was enjoying the exposition to his heart's content.

That is what Rudolfo G. Canton, the Railway King of Yucatán, and his nephew, Felipe G. Canton, one of the Mexican commissioners to the World's fair, at Felipe Canton knows Gen. Sandoval, and saw him in the corridors of the Chicago hotel, and another Mexican, a friend of the editor, declares he recognized the outlaw Garza. Mr. Canton says there is no mistake about the matter. Garza was pointed out to him in company with Sandoval.

"I tried to find their names on the hotel register," said editor Canton when seen by a reporter at the Hotel Imperial, "but both had taken fictitious names. Sandoval was making boasts of a new revolutionary movement, as he calls it, in Mexico, and yet so far as I am able to learn, neither he nor Garza was molested in Chicago. I saw the general in the second week of August. His room was opposite mine. Whether they are still in this country has gone past me. I can not say. They disappeared from the hotel suddenly."

R. G. Canton declared there was no chance of a revolution in Mexico. Garza was considered merely a plunderer. President Diaz was better liked than ever, and his policy had incited a strong feeling in behalf of the conservation of the republic as it is now conducted.

AN AWFUL DOOM.

Physician Sentenced to Solitary Confinement for Life.

HILLSDALE, Mich., Oct. 2.—Dr. Foglesong, who was found guilty of poisoning his wife, was brought into court Saturday morning for sentence. When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed, the doctor called God to witness that he was innocent of the crime, and declared no sense was ever more attached to each other than he and his wife. If I had made an error that caused her death it was one of judgment and not of the heart.

He was then sentenced to solitary confinement for life at Jackson prison. He was taken to prison in the afternoon. His attorney will endeavor to obtain a new trial. While the trial of the doctor was in progress it was revealed that the doctor's first and second wives also died under peculiar circumstances, and that there is a suspicion that he may have murdered them.

The accounts will be passed upon by Master Commissioner Posey and it is thought that the suits will soon be disposed of.

WHILE BEHAVING, a tough character, of Lexington, entered the house of Julia White, at Lexington, the other night, and found seated in the hall John Pace. Some words were passed, when Pace whipped out a dirk knife and slashed Dice in several places, one stab entering near the cavity of the heart. Dice's wounds were dressed, but his recovery is doubtful. Bremer made good his escape. He was employed as a farm hand by Leslie Combs.

This state executive committee, appointed by the Lexington convention, held last spring, composed of colored persons, for the purpose of raising funds to fight in court the separate coach act, passed by the last legislature, met in the office of Dr. J. C. Underwood, the secretary, at Frankfort, the other afternoon. The purpose of the meeting was to report the funds collected, employment of attorneys, etc. Hon. John Feland, the collector of the Owensboro district, was engaged as attorney to manage the case. He will probably engage Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, of New York, and ex-Dist. Hoadly, of Ohio, with other assistance. Suit will be entered in the United States district court, either at Louisville or Covington, as soon as practicable, and the case will be taken to the highest legal tribunal. There were $2,500 reported collected to be turned over to the treasurer, and other amounts in sight to run the amount up to $5,000. Judge Feland was present and accepted the engagement.

R. C. MILAN & SON, the famous reel-makers of Frankfort, received an award in the department of fish and fisheries at the World's fair the other day.

JUDAS JOSEPH JACKSON died at the residence of Dr. J. B. Mays, his son-in-law, in Danville, the other day, of general debility, incident to old age. He was 87 years of age.

The court of appeals has affirmed the verdict of the jury, rendered at the January term last of the Warren county circuit court, in the case of the commonwealth against Dr. T. J. Hourigan, convicted of murder and given ten years in the penitentiary. As soon as the mandate of the upper court arrives Hourigan will be taken to Frankfort to begin his term.

A NUMBER of colored men became involved in a quarrel over a game of craps at Kennedy Station, near Hopkinsville, during which James Broady was shot five times, receiving fatal injuries. All the guilty parties escaped.

NEAR Adamsville, Logan county, Wm. P. J. R. Mays, had a squabble with his landlord, James King, in regard to money past due. Two days later King approached the house occupied by Mays when the latter fired a load of bullets into King's body, causing instant death. The assassin then fled, and has not since been captured.

AUNT "MAMMY" PULLEN, colored, died at her home in Paris the other morning at the ripe old age of 122 years. She was formerly a slave in the family of Mr. B. F. Pullen, now deceased.

Mr. Harrison Talking Too Much.

If ex-President Harrison takes the advice of his old friends in Indianapolis, he would stop talking about public affairs until he can display more patriotism. The Indianapolis News supported him for the Presidency in 1888 and again in 1892, but it is thoroughly disgusted with his present attitude. "We regret to see," says the News, "that he does not seem to realize that criticism from him, of all men in the world, should be conspicuous by its absence. The country has not forgotten the desperate struggles of his Secretary of the Treasury for more than a year to avoid an unfavorable balance. He himself should be able to remember how Tanner and Blaine, and the magnificent surplus turned over by the first Cleveland Administration. And surely he cannot have forgotten all the talk about bond issues during the last year of his term. These things played a great part in developing the distrust of which the ex-President speaks in his recent interview." His old supporter does not hesitate to say that "it was because of this distrust, this lack of belief in the wisdom of the course pursued by party of which Mr. Harrison was the head, that he left Washington last March the worst beaten candidate since Horace Greely;" and it concludes its article with these severe words: "The interview is an unpleasant piece of self-photography. Mr. Harrison would do well to give us a little silence." This is the second time within a month that the News has felt constrained to criticize the ex-President with the utmost severity for his narrow partisanship.—N. Y. Evening Post.

The Big Sandy Leader says that the worst thing that can be said of C. B. Stuart is that he is a Democrat and that that is a good reason for not voting for him. The time for not voting for prejudice is passed. People in this age view the parties upon their merits; for reference examine the figures of the last election. If Joe F. White will read the history of his country he will find that the Declaration of Independence, which created a King's army to be driven from our continent and gave to us our liberty was written by a Democrat. He will find that a secession law passed by the Federalists party, grandfather to the Republican party, limited the freedom of speech and freedom of the press. The Democrats repealed this law and gave to Bro. White the privileges which he now enjoys.

He will find that the second war with England was under a Democratic administration, that the British army was repulsed and the rights of our American seamen secured.

He will find that Louisiana was purchased from France by a Democratic administration which extended our republic from ocean to ocean and strengthened our nation forever. That the territory acquired from Mexico was the work of Democracy.

That the excellent system of Public Schools in Kentucky, is the result of Democratic thought, Democratic labor, and largely Democratic money. Teachers have been asking for more money for their labor and the people have been asking for better teachers and better schools. We are getting both. We are progressing rapidly in educational work. Leading educators of the state tell us that Lawrence is one of the foremost counties of the state in education. But we have danger ahead. The Republican party claims to be the party of education. A few years ago it elected a Supt. of schools holding a third class certificate at the time he was elected. He was an honest man and good citizen; but made a failure as Superintendent of Schools. This, many of his party have admitted. He lacked education. Now, that party has risen one step higher and nominated Rob't. Billups a second-class teacher. C. B. Stuart's opponent is a gentleman well educated, with a great deal of experience. His experience and observation have been such that he knows the many perplexing and difficult things which the Supt. must deal with. Billups is a gentleman much limited in education, incompetent to be a Supt. of Schools. Shall we call a halt in educational work? If so vote for Billups. If we shall proceed let us vote for Stuart, a first class teacher who will make a first class Superintendent.

TEACHER.

Miss Madeline V. Pollard is reported to have entered an Episcopal House of Mercy, a home for fallen women at Washington, and to be engaged in missionary and educational work.

Mr. Oates made an elaborate argument before the house Committee on Banking and Currency in support of his bill repealing the 10 per cent. tax on State banks. The bill provides for Federal supervision, with a limitation of what has been declared by the courts to be a lawful Federal tax. One clause declares the aggregate amount of State bank issues shall not exceed $5 per capita of the State.

The postoffice department have issued a new form of money order blanks, intended to more perfectly protect the payee from loss. They are drawn in a form hitherto unknown in this country. The blanks now in use read: "Pay to the person named in my letter of advice." This form is intended to render the order useless to any person other than that to whom the order is sent, or one to whom it may be transferred. The precaution, however, is useless where the letter as well as the order falls into dishonest hands. The new forms contain, instead of "the person named in my letter of advice," the name of the payee.—Oakland City Enterprise.

Are your children subject to croup? If so, you should never be without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a certain cure for croup, and has never been known to fail. It given freely as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is the sole reliance with thousands of mothers who have croupy children, and never disappoints them. There is no danger in giving this remedy in large and frequent doses, as it contains nothing injurious. 50 cent bottles for sale by A. M. Hughes, Louisville, Ky.

The World's Fair.

Seven hundred and fifty thousand special tickets for Chicago day have been delivered to Horace Tucker, superintendent of admissions. They are designed as souvenirs of the great day. Each card of admission bears a coupon which will be torn off at the gate, leaving the ticket itself in possession of the purchaser as a memento of attendance. The superintendent of admissions is sanguine enough to believe that every one of the 750,000 tickets will be sold before the close of Chicago day, though he does not pretend to predict that all of them will be presented at the gate. He says, moreover, that he will not be surprised if the record showed an attendance of 50,000 children. He figures that the employers who have already agreed to send all their employees to the grounds on that day will swell the attendance of children to the largest total since the opening. Arrangements are being made to handle any number of the little ones in safety, and the transportation lines have been asked to make special preparations for their safety and comfort. Extra guards will be on duty at the railroad stations and about the grounds wherever there is apt to be a congestion of the crowds. The ambulance corps will be doubled for duty and the entire force of the Columbian guard will be in active service to see that the crowds are handled comfortably.

Forty Turks shook the exposition dust from their trousers and started Thursday noon on their 7,000 mile journey back to Constantinople. The brigade included the Sedan chair men, whose high rates and grasping dispositions made their business a total failure.

Manager Levy, of the Turkish village, gave the homesick voyager a farewell dinner, and the prayer in the mosque sought especial favor at the great prophet's shrine for the holy which crew. Each man was simply hilarious over the prospect of again soon walking the muddy, sloppy and otherwise terrible byways of their capital.

Children's day is to be a noted one at the Woman's Building. They are to have on that occasion all the infant prodigies to perform for the benefit of the multitude. There will be two pieces by the boy chorister, Davis, a soprano of Grace church choir, and other attractions as great.

Archduke Franz Ferdinand d'Este, the presumptive heir of Austria-Hungary, the probable future ruler of 40,000,000 of people, is a visitor at the fair. The prince and his suite will stop only a few days in Chicago, and will then continue a tour of the world, which is being made quite as much for purposes of education and enlightenment as for royal pleasure.

Cadets Seeley, Conrad, and Bash, the West Pointers who were recently court-martialed for absenting themselves without leave from the military camp at the World's Fair during the visit of the military academy corps of Chicago, have fared badly. The president has acted on their cases and decided to allow Seeley to resign and suspended Conrad and Bash for one year, subject to any mitigation the secretary of war may see fit to give. Seeley has the additional charge of breaking his parole resting against him.

Any visitor to the fair who loves to dwell on the historic associations of those wide, old-fashioned fireplaces, with their high mantels, which helped to make life endurable in the seventeenth century, will do well to study the numerous examples to be found in the various state and foreign buildings at the fair. Since the chilly mornings and evenings of autumn have come and started a shiver down the spine of the thinly clad, cheerful wood fires have been started in many of these fireplaces, and groups of men and women are constantly gathered about enjoying the old-time comforts. Some occupy the old fashioned chimney corner, or ingle nook as the poets prefer to call them; others lean against the high mantels, and if not very tall may in some cases stand under the arch or ceiling of the fireplace close up to the blazing logs; still others sit in dreamy attitudes on the old-fashioned arm chairs and settees scattered about.

In the Massachusetts state building you may see the finest example of an old colonial fireplace. This mantel is redecorated, and across the front in a row are hung old-fashioned leather fire buckets of antebellum days. Old china teapots and sugar bowls adorn the mantel shelf. This is the inscription on the Massachusetts mantel: "Ense petit placidam sub libertate quietem." The entire room in which this fireplace is constructed is in keeping with the mantel.

The Indiana state building has two or three old-fashioned wood fireplaces and a fire burning in one, around which Hoosiers stand to warm their backs. In the reception-room the wide fireplace has fine brass-knobbed andirons, and the mantel is constructed of antique oak and beautiful tiles of blue and gold. A large mirror runs up and above the mantel to the ceiling. Anyone looking for a fireplace to copy in the construction of a new house will find it profitable to study the state buildings at the fair. There are special examples in the Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Maine, and other structures, some of them very beautiful in design. In the New York building portraits of Gov. Flower and Chauncey M. Depew are placed above wide mantels and fireplaces. The inscription on the Pennsylvania mantel in the ladies' reception-room is as follows: "Art Sanctifies the Sorrows of the World."

This Kentucky state building has a splendid example of an old fashioned fireplace of antebellum days in the south. In one of the chimney corners in a frame is hung a copy of Henry Clay's great speech delivered at Lexington in 1847.

Victoria house has a fine old ingle nook with a baronial-looking terra cotta fireplace and archway, and an oak-paneled mantel. There are, of course, many others equally worthy of mention.

"Can you direct me to the Midway plaisance?" queried a tall, stout man dressed in tourist's tweeds of the Columbian guard in front of the Maine building at noon the other day.

"Yesir. Follow your nose down this street till ye come to the fence and then turn to your left and ye can't miss it," replied the guard, whose application papers bear the indorsement of a national commissioner from Kansas. The tall, stout man once ruled the house of representatives with a rod of iron. Just before he interrogated the guard he had made the following entry on the visitors' register in the Maine building: Thomas B. Reed. Mrs. S. K. Reed. Kittie Reed.

Chicago day at the World's Fair, Oct. 9, will be celebrated by wiping out the entire debt of the World's Fair company—bonded, floating and interest. It will just take a little over $1,900,000 to do this. Calculations by members of the finance committee have showed that the income of the exposition to Oct. 9, added to the funds already in the treasury, will quite reach the required amount. After Chicago day the net income of the remaining twenty-one days of the exposition will be devoted to the interests of the stockholders. This net income should average not less than $100,000 a day. The finance committee unanimously recommended that the remaining 30 per cent on the bonded debt of the corporation be paid on Oct. 9. It is anticipated that the floating debt will be practically wiped out at the same time, thus enabling the corporation to then stand free from debt. The payments to be made include: Interest on the bonds, $230,000; 30 per cent payment on bonds, $1,230,350; floating debt, including running expenses, $325,000.

The ex-czar declined the offer of Executive Commissioner Mattocks, of Portland, of an escort about the grounds. When interrogated by a newspaper man he said he had just enough of the white city to realize its vastness and its beauty. The first stunned him and when the shock wore off the beauty dazzled him. He had visited none of the exposition buildings and he guiltily admitted that he was headed for Midway and recreation. Mr. Reed's visit to Chicago is for the sole purpose of seeing it in his own way. The architectural and landscape effects impress the big man from Maine more forcibly than any other of the countless marvels of the fair.

Directors are sanguine that the 20,000,000 mark will have been passed when the fair closes at noon of Oct. 31.

The State Board of Health has taken steps looking to the enforcement of the new law relating to the registration of physicians, which went into effect Tuesday. The Secretary of the Board stated that almost one third of the physicians in the State were illegally practicing, and that a large percentage of these were illiterate.

Writes Postmaster J. C. Woodson, Forest Hill, W. Va. "I had a bronchial trouble of such a persistent and stubborn character, that the doctor pronounced it incurable with ordinary medicines, and advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and one bottle cured me. For the last fifteen years, I have used this preparation with good effect whenever I take

A Bad Cold, and I know of numbers of people who keep it in the house all the time, not considering it safe to be without it."

"I have been using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for 30 years, with the most satisfactory results, and can cheerfully recommend it as being especially adapted to all pulmonary complaints. I have, for many years, made pulmonary and other medicines a special study, and I have come to the conclusion that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral occupies a position pre-eminent over other medicines of the class."—Chas. Louisa Lodge, No. 270, I. O. O. F., September 29th, 1893.

In memory of Brother H. S. Sweetnam, a member of our Lodge who departed this life September 19th, 1893, at his residence in Louisa, Kentucky, in the seventy-sixth year of his age.

Whereas, It has pleased the Supreme Ruler and Governor of all things to remove from our midst, by the hand of death, our worthy brother, H. S. Sweetnam, who has passed from earth to the presence of the Grand Master above. Therefore

Resolved, That in his death we have lost a faithful and beloved member of our order, the sorrowing wife and children a devoted companion and protector and the community a useful citizen. We grieve to know that he has passed away, and in common with many friends participate in the anguish of heart with these bound to him by the ties of nature. Still our grief is not without comfort, for we feel assured that he has passed to the presence of that Heavenly Father, who ever deals gently and in loving kindness with his erring children.

Resolved, That the sympathy of this lodge be extended to the family of our deceased brother, and that our lodge room be draped in mourning for the space of thirty days, during which time the members are requested to wear the usual badge of mourning in his memory.

Resolved, That the thanks of this lodge be extended to the lodges of Peach Orchard, Charley and Fallsburg for kindly participating at the funeral of our departed brother.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of our deceased brothers and that a copy be furnished each of our county papers for publication.

The separate coach law went into effect last Sunday. The railroads are all complying with the requirements. The O. & B. S. is at present using a smoking car on each of its trains for the negroes, but will soon cut off an apartment for them by running a partition through the "smokers." Coming up the other day we noticed one colored gentleman in possession of the car, looking as though he had chartered it for a private ride.

Tobacco Raisers.

Anyone in this section who will have any tobacco for sale this year will do well to send his name and address, and an estimate of the amount he will have, to the BIG SANDY NEWS. We have arranged a plan by which you can find the best possible market. We have no selfish or direct interest in this matter and only desire to encourage tobacco raising and to make the NEWS a valuable servant of the people.

To Our Customers.

Owing to the cool weather our ice business has run down so that it does not pay us to deliver. Hereafter we will keep ice at the store, where all who want it can get it. Our ice man will be out with all unpaid bills Saturday and we will expect him to collect everything due, as this will be his last trip.

Frank Reeves, aged 16, was killed at Ashland a few days ago while riding a race horse, the animal falling upon him.

The Pikeville Monitor has appeared as an all-home print six column sheet instead of a seven column patent inside. The change is evidence of a progressive management.

The Pikeville Monitor says that W. H. Sowards, who has been indicted for burning the postoffice at that place, is not in jail, as was recently stated in the NEWS. We obtained the information from an exchange, and hasten to correct it upon the authority of the Monitor.

EDMONDS' BRANCH.

Born, on the 22 ult., to the wife of Laban Cooksey a girl; and on the 26, to the wife of Samuel Short, a boy.

Henry Compton, of Cat, was here a few days ago on business.

Mrs. Mathew Albright, of Riff's X Roads, in company with her amiable daughter Emma, paid relatives here a visit a couple of days last week.

Rev. F. R. Rice is to be our preacher for the ensuing year and preached his first sermon for us last Thursday night.

Al. Carter smiled on us Sunday. J. B. and Lee Riffe are making some splendid improvements on their dwelling by recovering, ceiling, &c.

Land Carter and Mont Nelson will ship a drove of nice cattle to Pittsburg this week and immediately after will leave for the World's Fair.

C. B. Stuart was shaking hands through our vicinity Saturday of last week. Charley is a hustler.

William Presley is the boss fox shooter. He says he can hit a fox just as well when it is running as when standing still.

Mill Russell made a flying trip to the head of Cat last Saturday.

A strange man purporting to be a detective stayed with Isaiah Jones a few nights ago and the next morning procured the use of Mr. Jones' buggy and over coat to go, as he said, to the mouth of Hood where he had some professional business to attend to. He was to have been back the next day, but alas has not returned. It is said passed the mouth of Hood and went on his way rejoicing. Mr. Jones is left to think on the uncertainties of man, and in the mean time the deepest sympathies of the community.

Henry and Pharaoh Marcum are in the tobacco business this year and have an excellent crop.

Everybody write to the good old NEWS so that we can have some fun reading each others letters.

COUNTRY GREENHOUSES.

The Best Plaster.—Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it on the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sure throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. 10-cent bottles for sale by A. M. Hughes, Louisa, Ky.

Notice to Tax Payers of Lawrence County.

I will proceed to collect the tax for 1893 by posting notices of the days and places my deputies will be in each district to receive the tax of the several districts in this county. This notice is all the demand the law imposes on me to make. I am sorry to have to push the matter so rapidly, but under the heavy penalties of the law I will, after notice given, proceed to levy and sell. My friends, you should not blame me as I did not impose these taxes on you, and I am compelled to do this to save myself and friends.

Yours Respectfully,
A. J. WILSON.

The Best Medicine.

J. O. Wilson, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas, thus speaks of Ayer's Pills:

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever tried; and, in my judgment, no better general remedy could be devised. I have used them in my family and recommended them to my friends and employes for more than twenty years. To my great knowledge, many cases of the following complaints have been completely cured."

By the use of Ayer's Pills alone: Third day chills, dumb ague, bilious fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flux, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard colic. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disorders I have named above."

"I have been selling medicine for eight years, and I can safely say that Ayer's Pills give better satisfaction than any other Pill I ever sold."—J. J. Perry, Spottsylvania Co., Va.

Time to Visit The World's Fair.

Those who live in Chicago claim that October is the most delightful month of the year, and it is thought that it will be the big month of the World's Fair. There will be at least one more good chance for visiting the Fair, as the C. & O. has announced that a special train will start from Knoxville, W. Va., at 8 A. M. October 2nd, and run through to Chicago. It will be composed of elegant vestibuled coaches and sleepers and will be personally conducted, which is a big card in itself, but the rates will be the Banner one of the World's Fair.

The C. & O. Ticket Agent will give full information regarding rates and train accommodations. He will also secure board in Chicago at from 50 cents up, on the European plan in perfectly reliable quarters conveniently located.
